

C. W. Wright of Albuquerque, the popular cigar salesman who travels for Rothenberg & Schloss is in the city, city and at the Grand Central.

We can please you if in need of a heater.—China Hall. 159t2
It whistled itself. That was the little boy's excuse when he accidentally whistled in school. Just so with the serge we told you about—they're selling themselves.—Jack Porter.

R. E. Robb of Uraldo, Texas, is among the new comers at the Grand Central.

Protection. Yes, we all want it—for our feet. Our sole effort has been to make a good foundation for our shoe business. If we make the shoe right the customers won't get left.—Jack Porter.

Get our prices on heaters before you buy.—China Hall.

A. E. Slack of St. Louis, came in on the stage last evening from Lincoln.

Big excursion. Date any day this week. Cut rates to all points and on all lines in our great shoe system. Come and procure a cut rate ticket to Solid Comfort, Long Service, Excellent Styles, etc., and all intermediate points.—Jack Porter.

Something new in graniteware.—China Hall. 159t2

J. W. Taylor left yesterday for Carlsbad.

A fine shoe is a beautiful thing; a beautiful foot is a comfortable thing. Disfigurement of the foot means torture past and present every time. Combine the fine shoe and the beautiful foot and we have a result to delight the gods.—Jack Porter.

We would appreciate a call from you.—China Hall. 159t2

J. W. Stockard informs us that all of the different classes of harness races, including free-for-all, are filled for the coming fair and the entire program will be carried out.

Every day our shoe store grows in popular favor—grows more crowded too. We don't sell shoes for looks and not for wear—or shoes for wear and not for looks. Its just as easy to combine the two—and do it cheaply.—Jack Porter.

Don't fail to give us a call before buying your heating stoves.—China Hall. 159t2

All gate keepers and ticket sellers report at the Secretary's office at the Fair grounds Tuesday morning at 8:45 o'clock.

Shoes of ours you will find all over the city. Besides beauty, they have style, durability and economy to recommend them. Our prices put them within reach of all. People ask for them; then they tell their neighbors that our quality is the best and our prices the lowest in the city.—Jack Porter.

There will be two big ball games here during the fair.

If in need of anything in granite ware give us a call.—China Hall. 2t

Do your shopping Monday—we have holiday Tuesday.—Morrison Bros. 1t

Mothers of children should look carefully after their feet. Nothing does more for the health and comfort of both old and young than good shoes. "Always wear good shoes" is a maxim to be taught and learned in early life. The rule can be put into practice easily and cheaply at our store.—Jack Porter.

We have just received something new in granite ware.—China Hall.

Wanted.

To rent two pianos during fair week. Telephone or apply in person to the office of J. A. Graham, Secretary.

Duchess ware, is something new. Come and see it.—China Hall. 2t

"Are you a tenderfoot?"—not in the wild western sense, but in the sense of having tender feet. If you are, we want to fit your next pair of shoes for you. There's a great deal in the way a shoe is first put on, and the way the foot settles into it. If it is tight where it should be and loose where it should be there is very little trouble. We make a study of these things.—Jack Porter.

Boy was right. A teacher asked a boy which was fastest, heat or cold. Boy said heat, because, said he, "No-body can catch heat while anybody can catch cold." Boy was right; easiest thing in the world to catch; hard thing to get rid of it. Best thing is to prevent it. Our wool lined shoes are cold preventers, and a thimbleful of prevention is worth a barrel of cure.—Jack Porter.

Work on the second story of Rothenberg & Schloss building is progressing rapidly.

Quality is the guiding spirit in this department. Quality first, quality last, quality all the time. Where quality is, satisfaction is, and that is the place to spend your money. When in need of shoes give us your patronage; we will fit you. We have all qualities, from the cheapest to the best.—Jack Porter.

Henry Brown the deputy sheriff returned to-day from Lincoln where he has been for four days attending court as a witness.

Beautiful underwear, full of unthinkable prettiness, tucked, frilled, and gathered, with garniture of lace and embroideries. They win the admiration of all. Perfected machinery makes their cost to you about the value of the material alone.—Jack Porter.

Attention, Attention.

People who have bought privileges at the fair grounds must report to Secretary Graham's office on Main street Monday morning at 8 o'clock. 1t

Parisian dress stuff novelties crowd the big space set apart for them, a profusion of indescribable beauty. Bars and stripes and pinches of color thrown on with random regularity; loops and knots and tufts and tangles of silky gayness on grounds that bring out every changing tint. An ever varying newness of designs. Odd looks and good looks—never before odder or better. Too full of life and sparkle to fall out of favor.—Jack Porter.

Important Notice.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Directors of the fair Monday morning at 9 o'clock, in Secretary Graham's office on Main street, also a meeting of the Superintendents of Divisions at the same hour and place. It is a very important meeting and it is requested that all be in attendance. 1t

The "harvest moon" never shed its rays upon lovelier autumn tinted scenes than are at present to be viewed on our counters of dress goods. This month is pre-eminently the month when nature dresses herself in her grandest plumage. All the rich olives, garnets and red browns, all the lights and shadows of forest and heather are caught by the artistic eye of the manufacturer and reproduced in the loveliest silk and wool fabrics ever by man invented.—Jack Porter.

Secretary J. A. Graham received a telegram to-day saying the two big mid-way shows for the fair would arrive Monday.

J. W. Phillips and wife of Clark, Penn., are visiting their son, Dr. W. W. Phillips, and will be at the Grand Central for a few weeks.

We can sympathize with the little boy who bit his thumb just because it "felt so good when he stopped"—we're in much the same fix on the cloak question. Every time we jab the knife into our cloak profits it hurts, and hurts like fury, too, but our joy will come when we've stopped slashing and our cloak department has been swept clean of its stock.—Jack Porter.

M. C. Corn of Eden Valley was in the city yesterday.

WANTED:—A man to cut grass, saw wood, and make himself generally useful. Inquire at this office.

Blankets for that chilly feeling. Weather and little prices have joined hands in a way that makes brisk blanket selling.—Jack Porter.

A railing fence is being put around the El Capitan hotel and is a great improvement to the property.

Come in with the tide of merry sight-seers—the bright eyed, flush-cheeked shoppers. Join them for your mind's and spirit's sake, if for nothing else.—Jack Porter.

C. L. Nelson of Valley Center, Kansas is a new prospector and is at the Shelby.

No wonder the yardsticks keep galloping from morning till night. Look at some of the prices.—Jack Porter.

D. M. White of St. Louis arrived this morning and is at the Grand Central.

Bye and bye when nippy nights come and the snow is crisp under foot, you'll think more of blankets than you do now. But to buy blankets just now is like putting your money out at interest, for in regular blanket buying time you may have to pay more than today's prices.—Jack Porter.

The main topic of conversation yesterday among the ladies of Roswell was hats. The Joyce, Pruitt Co's. opening and Morrison Bros. the following night seems to have stirred them up on the question.

Gloves are an article of dress that try the patience of the seller as well as the buyer—unless they are of the very best quality. The kind we sell we warrant, and with that assurance and the most courteous of salesladies to fit you buying becomes a pleasure.—Jack Porter.

Haynes W. Brownfield of Hodgenville, Ky. arrived here this morning on a prospecting tour and will likely invest in Pecos valley real estate. He is stopping at the Shelby.

While other shoe stores will show you the same old styles this winter, with possibly one or two new ones for effect, we shall place before you shoes made on absolutely new lasts conforming more closely than ever the natural foot.—Jack Porter.

R. M. Parson, Robt. Kellahin and Harry Hamilton went up to Portales this morning and will assist the local lodge in Masonic work to-night.

We're cranks on shoes, so they tell us when we're buying. Perhaps we are. Nothing less than the best obtainable is good enough for us, and the price must be right, too. Here's a shoe as easy as an old one, yet it fits perfectly, no surplus space, no rubbing, no pinching, no cramped toes, easy on the feet, easy on the purse.—Jack Porter.

W. T. Jones, who lives two miles east of town, left last evening for his ranch in Jeff Davis county, Texas. He says they have had plenty rain and that cattle are fatter and in a finer condition than they have been for 18 years. There are about 2000 head of stock on the ranch ready for market.

The iris around the dove's neck, the peacock's iridescent beauty and the rainbow tints are all reproduced in the folds of the new novelty suits. We could as easily sketch the shifting beauty of an autumn sunset as describe these loom wonders. Come and see for yourself what art can do.—Jack Porter.

Billy Ralston, Don Pedro Ralston, Tobe Stuart, Jack Leatherman and Julius Peterson went to the Bottomless lakes early yesterday morning and returned in the afternoon. They killed one hundred and seven ducks, but only secured seventy-five, as the dogs got tired pulling them out. Don Pedro Ralston made a great showing.

Now watch for price tumbling. The harbingers of fall are thickening. Case after case of the prettiest fall wearables are tumbling into our receiving room with price marks that are a revelation. Skill, the power of cash, taste are everywhere visible. Surprises await you in every bundle. Rich, tempting lots come from every box. You'll buy, show to your friends, and they'll in turn send others to secure the prizes that are fast filling counters and shelves.—Jack Porter.
